THERE IS NO MEDICAL ADVICE HERE!

The information you will find here is for information and research purposes only. Self-help requires intelligence, common sense, and the ability to take responsibility for your own actions. By reading this chapter you agree to hold yourself FULLY responsible FOR yourself.

I will start this chapter from a quote by Barry Carter, “I predict that the study of the ORMUS elements will change what we know in every scientific field including meteorology, astrophysics, quantum physics, chemistry, medicine, psychology, parapsychology, geology and all aspects of technology. If only 10% of what we have observed about ORMUS proves out, ORMUS will be the greatest scientific discovery in human history.”

And a quote from David Hudson in this specific regard, he stated: "I'm not a doctor, so I can't practice medicine. Anything that is administered to someone for the purpose of curing a disease is medicine ... My purpose in this was not to cure diseases and illness, but I did want to know: Does it work? ... I can tell you, it's been used on Lou Gehrig's disease; it's been used on MS; it's been used on MD; it's been used on arthritis ... I can tell you that at 2 mg. a day it totally has gotten rid of Karposi Sarcomas (KS) on AIDS patients (there's 32,000mg. in an ounce, 2mg. is nothing). And it gets rid of KS. I can tell you that for people who have taken it at 2mg. injections,

[1] ORMUS is an exotic form of elemental matter. It is believed that the various unusual properties of ORMUS make it difficult to detect using standard analysis methods. Some of these ORMUS (or m-state) elements have superconductive properties and are capable of "tunneling". (Such as seeping through the bottom of glass containers.) The (so far) known various ORMUS elements are: cobalt, nickel, copper, ruthenium, rhodium, palladium, silver, osmium, iridium, platinum, gold and mercury. Many of these elements can be very biologically toxic in their various standard forms but have proven to have a wide array of uses and benefits in their m-state forms, according to the overwhelming majority of reports. www.ormusvortex.info within 2 hours their white blood cell count goes from 2,500 to 6,500. I can tell you that Stage-4 cancer patients have taken it orally, and after 45 days have no cancer any place in their body."

And yet one more quote from www.ormusvortex.info What is ORMUS good for? This is no small question! ORMUS has many useful properties. It has applications in science, energy, transport, agriculture, health, healing, anti-aging and spirituality, just for starters. Many open minded people are beginning to investigate the many possibilities in these exciting areas of research. There are many different personal reports of a wide variety of health benefits, as well as many reports of psychic or spiritual enhancements. There is much evidence that plants grown in soil amended with forms of ORMUS have reduced disease, accelerated maturation and greatly increased production. Applications in science will be very exciting considering the superconductive properties of certain ORMUS elements. It is believed that fields such as communication, computing, transportation will be revolutionized and that green, renewable energy production could be vital in solving many serious ecological issues. Spiritual and/or psychic benefits could also possibly have a dramatic positive impact on humankind in general if benefits such as increased empathy and sensitivity could be realized! These are only some of the possibilities of these materials.

The texts of the Old Kingdom gave the Philosophers' Stone many names. It was called the golden tear from the eye of Horus, that which issues from the mouth of the Creator (the Christian Word), and the spittle or the semen of the Father in Heaven. With the rise of the Heliopolian Amun, it later became the hidden Light: the unknowable name of the God whose title was Amun and whose symbol was the ram. The modern name is ORMUS,[2] ORME and White-Gold, it has also been known as an elixir,[3] Manna, Shewbread, the snot, monoatomic elements, AuM, the polymers, m-state, shemana, microclusters, superdeformed high-spin elements, exotic atoms, Semen of the Gods, Schefa Food, Shem-an-na, Bread of the Presence of God, MFKZT, Elixer of Life, the lapis, the Sophic Hydrolith of the Wise, Erinaes Philothes Philolithes, What then is it?",

[2] ORMUS.- Orbitally Rearranged Mono-atomic Elements. ORMEs are virtually undetectable by conventional means because they lack a d-orbital electron. However, they do show a distinguishing infrared doublet located between 1400 and 1600 cm-1.

[3] Elixir.- The Elixir of the alchemists is essentially a liquid version of the Philosopher's Stone and has the same ability to perfect any substance. When applied to the human body, the Elixir cures diseases and restores youth.

dew, occult gold, hrysopoeia, aurum potable, water of gold, WhiteGold, The Philosophers' Stone[4] and many more name are all part of alchemy[5] an ancient chemistry science now being studied. This and various other names have been used by Alchemists and by high priests of ancient civilizations for that which feeds the Light Body. NOTE: There is still more to it than what is describe above; Alchemist describe other formulas that go together with the above mentioned new discoveries; hint: oil of wine, do your homework…

Dr. Immanuel Velikovsky in his book "Worlds in Collision," where he explains what happen last time Planet X passed near earth. This by the way is predicted by many will happen again between 2009-2015, says the following: The tail of a comet is composed of carbon and hydrogen gases, and these elements were in suspension in the earth's atmosphere after the comet departed. The Hindu Vedas, the Egyptian papyri, and the Hebrew legends say that the wind smelled sweet, and eventually the carbohydrates combining in the air precipitated. mankind fed on morning dew, say the Icelandic traditions, and the Vedas tell of the honey-lash falling - as the Greeks say ambrosia all fell - from the clouds. Where the honey-frost fell on the waters, it turned them milky and sweet. Ovid, the Vedas, and the Egyptians say the rivers flowed with milk and honey. The precipitate also fell among the Israelites, they called it Manna.

More than a decade ago, David Hudson, a farmer in Phoenix Arizona, stumbled upon the fabulous Philosophers' Stone while trying to mine and refine gold on his farm. He realized with [4] The Philosophers' Stone.- Was sought as a wonderful medicine that had the power to repair the human body and thereby increase life almost indefinitely. The Bible itself declared the Melchizedek the King of Salem, who first possessed the Philosophers' Stone, would live forever... The Philosopher's Stone was an alchemical "medicine" sought by alchemists in order to bring about a permanent transmutation of base metals into gold. The Philosopher's Stone had several names, including the "materia prima" and the "magnum opus" . Many "recipes" for the Philosopher's Stone were concocted throughout the centuries, usually either containing a silver or gold alloy which could be changed again into the pure metal, making alchemists believe that the metal had been transformed, or a "white or yellow metallic alloy superficially resembling silver or gold". Only a small quantity of the Philosopher's Stone was said to be required in order to transform large quantities of base metals into gold.

[5] Alchemy.- The word is derived from the Arabian phrase "al-kimia," which refers to the preparation of the Stone or Elixir by the Egyptians. The Arabic root "kimia" comes from the Coptic "khem" that alluded to the fertile black soil of the Nile delta. Esoterically and hieroglyphically, the word refers to the dark mystery of the primordial or First Matter (the Khem), the One Thing through which all creation manifests. Alchemy, then, is the Great Work of nature that perfects this chaotic matter, whether it be expressed as the metals, the cosmos, or the substance of our souls.

some excitement that he had discovered a repeatable formula. Even better, his formula could be scaled-up from a laboratory to a chemical plant. This was something that had eluded alchemists for at least three thousand years. Hudson's discovery is now a controversial subject at the forefront of pharmaceutical and industrial technologies based on high spin state mono-atomic or single atom elements of iridium, rhodium and gold. He has developed high spin mono-atomic states for many of the transition elements including gold. David Hudson believes that White-gold is unique among the monatomic elements because it is able to correct DNA deficiencies by a denaturing process. He hypothesizes that eating larger doses of monatomic elements may decelerate the aging process and perhaps even reverse it. White-gold would relax the damaged DNA and allow it to correct and recombine.

In March of 1988, David Hudson filed U.S. and worldwide patents on eleven orbitally rearranged monatomic elements, ORMES, which he discovered in a form not previously recognized. This is a totally new form of matter, the confirmation of which will be presented by Mr. Hudson with scientific references and data compiled by some of the most acclaimed research laboratories in the world.

David Hudson is a fourth generation Arizona farmer who became interested in extracting gold and silver from the tailings of old mining sites near his 675 acre farm. When he began the recovery process he soon discovered that gold and silver were being lost because of the buildup of a powdery substance referred to as "ghost gold" by many miners and metallurgists. Hudson's curiosity led him to work with spectroscopist’s at Cornell University and other labs to discover the elemental ingredients of this powder. Initial findings of the sample yielded iron, silica, and aluminum. Further extraction of these elements left 98% of the powder intact. The surprise was that this 98% consisted of nothing which could be identified through normal spectroscopic analysis.

Hudson knew that this "nothing" could be seen, felt, tasted and weighed. It had to be SOMETHING and he was determined to find out what IT was. In the course of his research he found a paper from the Soviet Academy of Sciences stating that proper spectroscopic analysis requires a 300 second burn instead of the 15 second burn used in the United States. Utilizing the Soviet technique of fractional vaporization, Hudson discovered that his sample contained the elements palladium, platinum, ruthenium, rhodium, iridium and osmium.

Even more astounding was his discovery that each of the nonmetallic elemental forms was a superconductor, a substance which allows an electric current to flow without resistance even in the absence of a continually applied potential. Hudson continued his research and found four papers by the U.S.

Naval Research Facility showing that cells of living tissues communicate with each other by a process identical to superconductivity, but the nature of the superconducting substance was unknown. On a hunch, Hudson analyzed the brain tissue of pigs and cattle and found the brain dry matter weight was 5% rhodium and irridium!

As a result of Hudson's research, he knew that the electrons flowing through a superconductor pair off and are converted to a light frequency in the process. He theorized that this might be the same process occuring in human cells. Hudson discovered papers published by Bristol-Myers-Squibb Laboratories and others which indicated intense experimentation was being done utilizing precious elements in the treatment of cancer. These elements were shown to interact with the cell by a vibrational frequency or by light transfer to correct the mutant DNA. When Hudson applied his proprietary method of analysis to Essiac Tea (an alternative treatment for cancer), he discovered high levels of rhodium and irridium. He also found that Acemannan, a derivative of the aloe Vera plant currently being tested on AIDS patients, is 90% rhodium!

David Hudson's life took an abrupt turn in 1990 when his uncle brought him a Time-Life book, "Secrets of the Alchemists." The goal of the alchemists was to make a white powder of gold that would serve as the container of the "light of life". This search for the white powders has been termed the search for the philosopher's stone. Encyclopedia Britannica says: "The stone, also referred to as the 'tincture' or 'powder'... was allied to an elixir of life... Inasmuch as alchemy was concerned not only with the search for a method of upgrading less valuable metals, but also of perfecting the human soul, the philosopher's stone was thought to cure illness, prolong life, and bring about spiritual revitalization."

A new line of thought consumed David Hudson. He read over 500 books on alchemy and its history. He reread the Bible, finding many references to the white powder. He talked to Rabbis well versed in the ancient secrets of Judaism, who told him of white powders available only to the priests of Solomon's Temple. This is referred to as "mana", food of the gods. Hudson's research has led him to believe that ingesting the manna enabled the priests to approach the Ark of the Covenant without being killed.

In his lecture, Hudson will give fascinating details about the Ark and a scientific explanation behind manna's protection. He also will discuss where the priests obtained their formula for making the white powders and how this formula was lost after the Temple was destroyed. He will explain his theories about the Essenes and why he thinks Mary was given the white powders of gold in preparation for the conception and birth of Jesus. Nostradamus predicted that by 1999 "occult gold" would be known to science. Other prophecies indicate the discovery of this "occult gold" would be made by a direct descendant of the Davidic blood line. According to the book, "Holy Blood, Holy Grail", the Davidic blood line is continued today in the French de Guise family name. Long after his research into the white powders began, David Hudson discovered that he was a direct descendant of this French family.

Could David Hudson be the one chosen to fulfill these ancient prophecies? [6] Perhaps he has already done so. David Hudson retired from the ORMES/m-state business years ago, but his legend is still told as the modern founder.

So what can ORMUS/ORMES/m-state do for you? Here is a short list: perfect telepathy, the ability to know good and evil when it's present, and to project thoughts into another person's mind. There is also the ability to levitate, or to walk on water. By excluding all external magnetic fields (including the Earth's gravity), the white powder of gold takes one beyond the four dimensional space time continuum, and the individual becomes a fifth dimensional being. They can literally think where they would like to be, and go there. They can heal by the laying on of hands, and can cleanse and resurrect the dead within two or three days after they died. They have so much energy that they can literally embrace people and bring light and energy back into them. But there is a catch to the above statements. ORMUS is only part of the equation to be able to do all these things and gain all these benefits. You will also have to advance/ascend quite bit as an individual spiritual being that you are. You will also have to research several other secrets well guarded by the alchemist throughout history and till to date. Here goes the saying "The master will appear when the student is ready." I can say that this has been my case many times. When I thought I was running out of information, by pure magic someone came into my life and handled me a bunch more books.

In Revelations, it says, "Blessed be the man who shall overcome, for he shall be given the hidden manna, the white stone of the purest kind upon which will be written a new name." He will not be the same person. [Obviously!]

Before obtaining the privilege White-gold may bring, it is well to remember the Rabbis' warning that the powder can be used for good or evil and it is incumbent upon all to learn to control our own dark side before partaking:[7] Here is a key. Perhaps you will use it to open a new door. Beware! Once through the door you will find the pursuit of Wisdom demands either your fulltime attention or none at all. If you become a philosopher, your friends may think you have become a little mad. Indeed, what would be made of you? Glassyeyed, preoccupied, strange friends, muttering about ancient history, the Good and the Righteous, and chemistry. Things most people simply don't think about. THE ALCHEMY KEY[8]

ORMES is obtained from the Precious Metals (Rhodium (Rh), Silver (Ag), Iridium (Ir), and Gold (Au). The other four Precious Metals (Ruthenium, Palladium, Osmium, and Platinum.) Superdeformation of Nuclei[9] of these precious elements, results in a monoatomic, superconducting, high spin, low energy state, wherein -- in accordance with ORME Physics[10] and ORME Biology[11] -- the extraordinary characteristics of the white powder of gold can be manifested.

I also want you to note that this substance ALSO has MANY industrial process applications, such as levitation of objects and the production of very low cost energy also known as free energy. Keep an eye open in the years to come for these rediscovered technologies. All this is part of new modern science know as “quantum physics” which will eventually be accepted as part of our modern chemistry methodology. These puzzle pieces are being described using modern observational tools like electron microscopes, analytical chemistry and spectrographic analysis but they are also being described using yogic or psychic vision and ancient historic records.

What we can see of the finished picture at this point--looks like it could connect science and spirit. Some of the pieces of this puzzle come from scientific observation; some come from Judeo-

"Given the facilities of today's scientific advancement and our knowledge of atoms and nuclei, is it possible (as it was in the distant past) to convert gold [and other precious metals] into a sweet-tasting, ingestible white powder? Is it possible for that powder to outweigh its optimum weight of gold? Is it also possible for that same powder to under-weigh itself and to weigh less than nothing? Under such circumstances, is it possible that the powder can disappear from sight into another dimension of space-time and then be returned to its original state? The answer to each of these questions is YES -- for this is the post-Star Fire mystery of the phoenix, and it is the key to the Messianic bloodline enhancement through the fire-stone." Laurence Gardner

The May 1995 issue of Scientific American discussed the effects of ruthenium (one of the precious metals), by noting that a single ruthenium atom placed at each end of the double-helix DNA increases the conductivity of the strand by a factor of 10,000, causing the DNA to become, in effect, a "superconductor". Based on a synthesis of additional historical, philosophical, mythological, and scientific evidence, David Hudson has determined that the ORME is truly the "Tree of Life". Hudson has noted in the _Scientific Literature_ (http://www.halexandria.org/dward477.htm) (Guidice, et al), the basis for human cells being able to exhibit Superconductivity_ (http://www.halexandria.org/dward156.htm) and the extensive amount of research being conducted on treating cancer and other diseases with precious metals. These precious elements appear to be correcting the DNA, literally "flowing the light of life" within the body.

The Platinum Metals Review includes articles which discuss the treatment of cancers using platinum, iridium and ruthenium. Apparently, the application of a platinum compound to an altered DNA state (as in the case of a cancer) will cause the DNA to relax and become corrected. It is known that both iridium and rhodium have anti-aging properties, that ruthenium and platinum compounds interact with DNA, and that gold and the precious metals can activate the endocrinal glandular system in a way that heightens awareness and aptitude to extraordinary levels.

ORMUS/ORMES discussion forums

The oldest ORMUS forum is called the WhiteGold Forum. The WhiteGold Forum is a moderated email list. This means that the moderator of the list reviews every post you send to the list before it gets sent on to the whole list. WhiteGold List: http://zz.com/WhiteGoldWeb

Since its inception in February of 1996 it has been the policy of the WhiteGold Forum to keep the names and contact information of its subscribers as private as those subscribers wish to be. We determine whether a person wishes to make this kind of information available to the entire list by whether or not they include this kind of information in the body of their post or in their signature lines. If you include only your first name at the bottom of your post that is all that will be included in the "From:" line in the header.

The WhiteGold List is for the sharing of personal experiences with the ORMUS substances. There is some scientific discussion but we discourage religious and political discussion because of the great diversity of people who are interested in ORMUS. The WhiteGold List averages about 25 messages per day. To join the WhiteGold list send a message to WhiteGold-request@zz.com with the subject Subscribe. The WhiteGold list is a very active list. Folks on the list are generally quite willing to answer questions so you may generate some interesting responses by posting your questions to this list.

The largest ORMUS forum list is:

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ORMUS forum. This forum has over a thousand members and is quite active with over thirty messages per day. This forum is also for primarily for sharing of personal experiences with the ORMUS substances. There is some scientific discussion but here again we discourage religious and political discussion because of the great diversity of people who are interested in ORMUS. Membership on this forum is by request. It is not moderated or anonymous.

The ORMUS http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ORMUSandSpirit forum was created as a place where people can freely discuss religious and spiritual issues. Anyone can join this list and it is not moderated or anonymous. This forum averages a few message per day.

The ORMUS Politics

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ORMUS_Politics list was created for ORMUS related political discussion. Membership on this forum is by request. It is not moderated or anonymous. This forum averages about one message a month.

The ORMUS Scientific Workgroup

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ORMUS_SWG email forum was created for scientific discussion of ORMUS related things. Membership on this forum is by request. It is not moderated or anonymous. This forum averages about 7 messages per day.

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ORMES This is one of the most recent forums; it was created by a true scientist, one that seeks to use proper scientific definitions methods. There has been an ongoing very long discussion regarding proper scientific definitions, but there has not been an agreement on how to properly define these newly discovered substances; even though they all seem to behave in similar ways, it does not mean they are the same thing. Note that there are many formulas, all leading to a somewhat similar product, but not necessarily the same. Some start with sea water, others with salt, others with rocks from various sources, and many with pure precious metals. Later some have other procedures done to it, like charging, which yet produces another variation that may need is own classification. Overall this is all a newly rediscovered sciences that is in its infancy stage.

In addition to these forums there are dozens of local area ORMUS email lists. These local ORMUS lists were created so that people can meet in person to work together on ORMUS related stuff. I also post information about upcoming ORMUS related meetings and lectures when they are to occur in a local area. For a list of all forums go here:

ORMUS Book list

Robert Cox, Stuart Nettleton and Laurence Gardner. These three gentlemen have written fine books with the ORMUS materials as a main subject. Rob's book The Pillar of Celestial Fire discusses these materials primarily from the Hindu and Egyptian historical perspectives. Stuart's book The Alchemy Key[13] discusses these materials primarily from the Middle Eastern and Masonic historical perspectives. And Laurence Gardner's books Genesis of the Grail Kings and Lost Secrets of the Sacred Ark[14] discuss these materials from the perspective of the Sumerian, Egyptian and Hebrew traditions.

Here are some quotes from Laurence Gardner[15]: "So, given the facilities of today's scientific advancement and our knowledge of atoms and nuclei, is it possible (as it was in the distant past) to convert gold into a sweet-tasting, ingestible white powder? Is it possible for that powder to outweigh its optimum weight of gold? Is it also possible for that same powder to underweight itself and to weigh less than nothing? Under such circumstances, is it possible that the powder can disappear from sight into another dimension of space-time and then be returned to its original state? The answers to each of these questions is 'yes' — for this is the post-Star Fire mystery of the Phoenix, and it is the key to the Messianic bloodline enhancement through the fire-stone. As to why the fire-stone was called 'highward' by the ancient Mesopotamians, we shall now discover as we enter the realm of highspin metallurgy. (Then he goes on to discuss David Hudson)"

The 17th-century philosopher, Eirenaeus Philalethes (revered by Isaac Newton, Robert Boyle, Elias Ashmole and other Royal Society colleagues of his era), produced a work in 1667 entitled 'Secrets Revealed'. In this treatise he discussed the nature of the Philosophers' Stone, which was commonly thought to transmute base metal into gold.

Setting the record straight, Philalethes made the point that the Stone was itself made from gold, and that the philosopher's art was in perfecting this process. He stated: "Our Stone is nothing but gold digested to the highest degree of purity and subtle fixation. It is called a stone by virtue of its fixed nature; it resists the action of fire as successfully as any stone. In species it is gold, more pure than the purest; it is fixed and incombustible like a stone, but its appearance is that of a very fine powder".

Some time earlier, in 1416, the noted French chemist Nicolas Flamel wrote that when the noble metal was perfectly prepared, it made a fine 'powder of gold', which is the Philosophers' Stone.

ORMUS Vendors

Today, there are a number of companies manufacturing products said to contain ORMUS/ORMES//M-state substances. Some are working from a pure gold base, while others are using platinum group trace elements from sea sediments and volcanic or meteoric earth sources, others use new energy devices that are yet to be classified by proper science methodology. The extent to which these products might individually approach the fully charged superconductive state, however, is unknown at this time since the enigmatic powders do not react to conventional analysis as do the metallic elements from which they derive. In other words, NO one is providing clear definition on what these new products really are. Note that ORMES is a well defined substance that to the best of my knowledge no one is selling at this time.

In respect of these products, I am not making specific recommendations as such, nor am I suggesting any particular product for any specific purpose - but I cite below some of the 30+ companies selling ORMUS/m-state products. Please note that since at the time of writing this book there are NO proper scientific definitions, the names ORMUS, ORMES, M-state are used by vendors without a clear definition of what they mean by them. Almost all reports have been positive from all these vendors. I myself have consumed several of them and only have good things to say, but this by no means says that the vendors have any clear scientific definitions, nor are really sure of what is it that they are selling. Many hold their formula secret, therefore no one really knows what is it…
